
The BMO Capital Markets 10th Annual MEDIA & TELECOM CONFERENCE

DAVE Wireless

Dave Dobbin
President

Dave is responsible for leading the market growth and development of DAVE Wireless, with overall responsibility for business strategy, sales, marketing, network operations and customer care.

Prior to joining DAVE Wireless, Dave was President of Toronto Hydro Telecom Inc., the telecommunication subsidiary of Toronto Hydro Corporation. In 2008, Dave led the sale of THTI to Cogeco Cable Inc for $200M, the largest Canadian transaction for a utility telecom asset. During his tenure, THTI implemented the largest wireless mesh network in North America, installed the first switched DWDM core network in Canada and produced 12 quarters of consecutive EBITDA and net income growth.

From 2001 to 2005, Dave was the Chief Operating Officer of Telecom Ottawa where he created a successful telecommunications subsidiary for Hydro Ottawa Holdings Inc. Prior to this position, Dave was Project Executive at Hydro One Telecom/SCBN, as well as Vice-President of Operations at BDO Watson & Associates. Dave started his career by founding a retail telecommunication retail chain with locations across Western Canada. The chain grew to be the largest distributor of Telus products and services in the country.

He was recently named one of Canada's Top 40 under 40, a national program that celebrates the country's leaders of today and tomorrow, and that honours Canadians who have reached a significant level of success but have not yet reached the age of 40. Dave founded and is the chair of the Toronto Board of Trade's Information and Communications Technology Committee and speaker program, which is now the top selling event series at the Board. He sits on the Legal and Regulatory committee of ITAC, and serves on the Board of the United Telecom Council in Washington, D.C.
